The removal of unnecessary ornament was believed by the revolutionary Bauhaus movement of the 1920s to lead to a new functional beauty. Michelangelo had much the same idea four centuries earlier.

The continuation of form following function has been demonstrated throughout the Sottini collection by brilliant designers such as Robin Levien, Royal Designer for Industry, and internationally acclaimed Nilo Gioacchini and Franco Bertoli.

Each piece of Sottini porcelain has been carefully crafted and detailed to be as efficient as it is beautiful. The unique designs of the mixers and taps have been given the same consideration and are crafted from solid brass and plated in chromium.

A history of bathroom sculpture

The history of Sottini began in Italy with two brothers Antonio and Guiseppe Sottini, craftsmen who founded their business making fittings for bathrooms during the early twentieth century. Their dedication to traditional, handmade quality coupled with innovation made their business a success. Sottini products became renowned for their attention to detail and combined the best in classic design with the latest technology.

Today Sottini is a company within the Ideal Standard family, catering for the specialist bathroom market. It has been available in the UK for 20 years. The Sottini collection continues to embody all the best features of design, quality and engineering, to bring Sottini customers products that will last and add value to their homes. Sottini products are only available through an exclusive network of showrooms throughout the UK.

ROBIN LEVIEN RDI IS ONE OF BRITAIN'S MOST CONSISTENTLY SUCCESSFUL PRODUCT DESIGNERS OF THE LAST 25 YEARS. HE EXPLAINS WHY HE IS SO PROUD TO BE ONE OF THE MANY LEADING DESIGNERS ASSOCIATED WITH THE SOTTINI BRAND. A DESIGN FOR LIFE.

How would you best describe your personal design ethic?

As a designer my motivation is finding the 'it' factor... whatever 'it' is. That spark, that special something that connects with people. My work strives to get 'it' into everyday products – that's what I'm interested in.

What is the key to creating design classics that will stand the test of time?

If you can capture that certain DNA, that 'it' factor in a design, it will keep a product alive and make it timeless. I also like under-styling things – that way they won't go out of date quickly and you can make your bathroom your own in line with your taste. A design classic will work just as well in a contemporary scheme as it will in a more traditional one.

Why work with Sottini?

In the bathroom industry, Sottini represents great design, functionality, attention to detail and high quality craftsmanship – all principles with which I am proud to be associated. My relationship with Sottini goes back many years and the current Sottini collection includes several of my designs, the latest of which is Santorini. Functionality is something I am really passionate about – Sottini bathrooms fuse the latest bathroom innovations with beautiful aesthetics.

Describe your perfect bathroom?

A bathroom should be the perfect place to start and end the day. A place to relax and unwind, but also a place to invigorate and lift the senses. It should be functional and beautiful. I prefer bathroom products with clean, simple lines so that the personality of a room can be created with additional materials and accessories. My own bathroom features an oval bath dropped into a big piece of oak, a back to wall toilet and semi pedestal washbasin. Above the basin is a beautiful elaborate gold mirror which contrasts with the simplicity of the bathroom suite.

What advice would you give to someone planning their own bathroom?

Be inspired by the bathrooms in this brochure – create your own perfect space. Go for built-in furniture solutions if you need additional storage as they provide the additional benefit of hiding unsightly plumbing. Fit a dimmer switch and use large format tiles to make the room feel much bigger. Most importantly, choose products that fit in with the way you live and that you somehow connect with – additions such as soft closing toilet seats and specially designed shower baths can really enhance your bathroom.

Idealcast

The strength of cast iron with half the weight! Idealcast is a composite of resins and minerals, which is cast onto the reverse of a vacuum formed acrylic shell. This creates a very rigid product, comparable with the solid feel most people associate with cast iron.

For roll top Idealcast baths see page 118

Ideal Waste System

Hidden overflow system
The Ideal Waste System is based on the scientific principle of equal water levels in communicating vessels. The height of the bath is lower, the water depth remains the same.

How it works
The patented Ideal Waste System from Sottini is a combined hidden overflow, waste and plug system, controlled by a simple open/close control on the edge of the bath. Instead of a traditional overflow hole, hidden behind the bath is a twin pipe overflow that is connected direct to the waste. When you fill the bath with water – one side of the overflow pipe fills – exactly to the same level as the bath (See fig. 1). If you overflow the bath – the water in one side of the overflow pipe will filter up and over the bend down the other side of the overflow pipe, directly into the waste system (See fig. 2).

PLANNING YOUR BATHROOM

CAREFUL PLANNING AND RESEARCH IS THE KEY TO SUCCESS WITH ANY NEW BATHROOM. Fitting a new bathroom is a chance to review how you want to use the room. Think about who uses it and how much space you have. Get a good idea of what you want from your new bathroom before you start and it will make your planning that bit easier.

Start by accurately measuring the internal dimensions of your bathroom, taking doors, windows and radiators into account as well as any architectural features such as sloping ceilings. Mark the existing plumbing points such as water supplies, water and soil outlets. Now experiment with the layout of your new bathroom. Take time to explore the possibilities, check the dimensions of each item you are considering and make sure there is enough activity space around each item. Wherever possible try and use the existing plumbing - it can be costly and time-consuming to re-route the water supply and waste pipes. Sometimes however, moving sanitaryware around may considerably improve your space. Seek professional advice from a qualified plumber.

Once you have confirmed the new layout of your new bathroom, you can decide on how you want your bathroom to look and feel. Bathrooms are usually the smallest room in the house, but that doesn't mean you have to compromise on style. Reflective surfaces such as chrome, glass and shiny tiles will help bounce light around the room. Clever lighting can be used to create the mood of the room, and with several different lighting options, you can transform your bathroom from a bright, functional area to one with a softly lit, relaxing atmosphere. Remember to plan your lighting so that the necessary electrical work can be done at the building stage.

Spend a little extra on the flooring. Wipe-clean surfaces are the best and larger tiles can help create a sense of space. Don't forget to create plenty of storage space, using fitted furniture or shelving, so you can tuck your medicines and beauty products out of sight. This will leave a beautiful, clutter-free space to relax in.

IMPORTANT INSTALLATION INFORMATION

A key element in the performance of a bathroom is the quality of the installation. We recommend you use a plumber from a registered association (see below) and consult him (or her) right from the start. Your local Ideal Standard stockist may offer a plumbing service or, if not, will be able to recommend a qualified plumber. Local showroom information and advice about installation and planning is available from the Bathroom and Shower Information Service www.thebathroom.info
